Hexaware

★ Rising Star

"Hexaware's CarrotCube is a mature digital solution that rapidly integrates with existing ecosystems."

Frances Grote

Overview

Hexaware continues to grow its clinical market share. With an expanding portfolio of functionalities on its CarrotCube DCT platform, it now supports a range of services from enrollment through study management and patient engagement. It is also designed to be readily integrated with existing systems, reducing the cost and burden of implementation. Hexaware brings further value with its Mobiquity consulting practice to focus on accelerating the pace and efficiency of digital implementation.

Strengths

Support for both digital and hybrid trials: The CarrotCube platform, which supports both digital and hybrid clinical trials, leverages Hexaware's deep subject matter and technology expertise to enhance the client's ability to implement digital solutions.

Extensive experience automating client operations: Hexaware has recent hands-on experience successfully automating multiple life science client operations and provides Clinical Trial Automation as a Service.

Focus on analytics and reporting: Hexaware solutions provide robust support for clinical operational analytics and reporting.

Caution

Hexaware has continued opportunity to expand its market share in the Clinical Development space through its sophisticated and customizable offerings. Concomitant growth in dedicated team members will increase Hexaware's competitive standing.
